SUMMER TRAINING SCHOOL AND ALLIANCE ASSEMBLY.

"The Mistakes of Ingersoll" Pointed Out by Col. Copeland—Wednesday Evening's Exercises and Thursday's Proceedings—Today's Programme.

At the proceedings of the alliance at 3 o'clock Wednesday, a large audience greeted Col. L. F. Copeland of Harrisburg, Pa., to hear his memorable lecture on the subject, "The Mistakes of Bob Ingersoll." The subject was handled in a masterly way from the beginning to the end. The lecturer took as an axiom that "Infidelity is the result of shallow thought." He took many of Ingersoll's mistakes and showed that deeper thought and more thorough investigation would have led him to other conclusions than those he had formed.

The lecturer said he had no intention of entering into a theological discussion nor a personal criticism. He was not a cleric. Personal criticism was in bad taste on the platform. The root of infidelity, he said, is shallow thought. If people would dive to the depths, instead of staying on the surface, they would be led to deeper thought.

If man would stop to look into a matter thoroughly there would not be the shallowness exhibited we find in Ingersoll's writings. He had heard Ingersoll nine times, and on every occasion had seen in him an antagonism to divinity—an antipathy to God. He said the Bible studies of the minds and traditions in the Ten Commandments were the product of a barbarous age and of a barbarous mind, and as a code was cruel and vindictive. He sold our churches should be turned into stables and the ministers put to currying the horses. He once said there was not much of genius in an orthodox pulpit in America.

Such remarks are an exhibition of the most colossal impudence, and such statements prove of an enlarged cranium.

Bob raises his shibboleth, "progress," and calls for progress in civilization, in steam, in telegraphy, in agriculture, in everything in life but religion. This doctrine is a product of shallow thought; it is one of Bob's mistakes. He would not dare to make such statements if he had studied Nature and the Bible.

The man who will assert that the age of Moses and the Pentateuch was so barbaric makes an unpardonable mistake. Bob says we are too credulous. We infidels are looking about us for the past. An application came to his mind, and he sent a telegram to his friends to have them meet him at the love song of the one whose voice was to our hearts the sweetest, left an impression still unfeigned by the storms of years.

A song has won the heart of a king, has determined the fate of a nation, and changed the condition of a people, has opened the door to millions of hearts, and through the opened passage let in the light of God's divine love.

The voice befriends the character of the animal. Every lamb knows quickly the voice of its mother. Every ewe knows the voice of her lamb, though it be with hundreds of others. With what certainty the mother distinguishes the cry of her babe, though at a short among a thousand. It is the caste existing in that country. No such statement is absurd, and the result of shallow thought. Infidel scientists say that it is said God made the world out of nothing, and that the first cause of the universe of this is he couldn't do that, because he would sooner or later run out of material to use.

These gentlemen (infidels) have not fathomed the subject of the creation and beginning of the world.

Where lies the difference between scientific infidelity and plain belief? Shallow thought is the answer.

When infidelity ends with its shallow thought divinity begins. Our belief is logical; Infidels' is shallow thought.

Mathematics is an exact fact; figures don't lie, but liars sometimes figure.

Bob is an attempted theologian. He has exhibited his greatest inventive against the Bible. It is, but not a matter of a few years, but not months. He cleared the air of his views of oratory, and, looking for what he thinks is indecent in the Bible, and when he sees it he swoops down and exclaims: "I told you so. I have found it (the Bible) is not a fit book for respectable families."

He (the speaker) believed in a religion of humanity, and a religion of humanity is the religion of Jesus Christ. Infidels say: Look at your churches—you are full of hypocrites.

Are there any hypocrites in the churches? There are, but liars sometimes figure.

Bob is an attempted theologian. He is always looking for what he calls the independent and obscure in religion and the Bible. He is like a vulture, always hunting for and tearing up our bodies. He cleared the air of his views of oratory, and, looking for what he thinks is indecent in the Bible, and when he sees it he swoops down and exclaims: "I told you so. I have found it (the Bible) is not a fit book for respectable families."

A SENSATIONAL report comes from Berlin to the effect that Empress Victoria is virtually a prisoner in her palace, because she will not give up her late husband's private papers. If the Empress has much of her mother's spirit, they will have to do something more than shut her up to get her to relinquish anything she has determined to keep.

In the latest issue of the Victoria (B.C.) Social World, Dr. G. Hamilton Griffin, "managing editor," threatens to draw the sword in defense of his honor and have a person who has been criticizing him arrested for criminal libel. The Doctor is a daisy. He ought to be embalmed, when he dies, and erected in a public place as a monument to Cheek.

THE working of the boycott system promises to have some curious results in the Eastern States. General Master Workman Powderly advises the boycott of coffee until the corner in the berry is broken, and the Chicago laboring men propose to abstain for thirty days from drinking beer, to punish the obstinate brewers. Should the boycott teach the working classes temperance and frugality, it will prove to be not an unloved evil.

Against Cleveland and Free Trade.

Ex-Gov. John G. Downey, a lifelong Democrat, known throughout California as a citizen and public officer, will vote against Grover Cleveland for President. This statement is made upon authority. His reasons are his opposition to the free trade tendencies of the Democratic party and his lack of confidence in Cleveland, as the executive officer of a great nation.

Gov. Downey distinguished himself in the executive chair of this State by the firmness with which he resisted corrupt measures, originated by corrupt men, for the oppression of the people—measures which were put through the Legislature in 1881 by shameless methods, and for which the executive sanction was sought by the same methods. His administration has gone into history as an honest administration. By yielding to tempting bribes, he might have achieved a still higher political position, or won broad acres to the extent of thousands, but he spurned the bribes and departed not from the grand baseline of duty. Considering his long-time Democracy, from which he has departed only in rare instances, where the scruples of an honest man made it imperatively necessary, and his prominence in the councils of his party, his defection at this time is an event of great political significance, the more so as it is known that he has arrived at that stage in his long and honorable career when political aspirations are a secondary consideration with him.

Gov. Downey has recently returned to his old home and the scenes of his early political and business achievements restored to health, in full possession of all his faculties, and has resumed personal control and direction of his extensive business interests. The Governor is at present absent from the city, but the above information regarding his intended political action in this campaign comes from him direct.

Our Government Building.

The action and attitude of Representative Vandever, touching this public enterprise of so vital importance to Los Angeles, should not be mistaken by his constituents. In justice to him some inside facts, not heretofore made public, are now given. The facts show that there has been no lack of diligence on his part in efforts to procure an additional appropriation for the Government building at Los Angeles. He had procured a favorable report from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds in the House, and also the recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, and considered that the bill would pass the House whenever he could obtain recognition for that purpose. At this juncture the Los Angeles Board of Trade requested that there should be no further delay, addressing the Secretary of the Treasury direct, and asking that the work be proceeded with under the first appropriation. Until informed by the Supervising Architect that such an address had been made by the Board of Trade, Gen. Vandever was ignorant of it. He, however, immediately inquired of the president of that body if such was the desire of the board, and received in reply a long telegram, urging him to have the plans prepared and the work forwarded without waiting for more money. Gen. Vandever accordingly conformed his action to the wishes of the board, for he saw at once the impracticality of endeavoring to counteract its wishes. The Supervising Architect always contended that, if a larger building than at first estimated for was to be constructed, more ground would be required; and the Board of Trade seemed to fear that an effort to procure more ground might result in a change of location. Probably a better location could have been selected, but now, inasmuch as it has been chosen, the work had better go on.

In the plan for the building, the Architect will make it substantial and plain, with a view to future enlargement.

Appropriations for public buildings in California are retarded at this session by the urgency with which San Francisco is pushing its project of procuring about $800,000 for a site alone or a Government building in that city. This is as it should be. Los Angeles, San Pedro, San Diego, Santa Barbara, San Buenaventura, San Luis Obispo, Portland and other points along shore should have a chance.

The "Trust" Refinery at San Francisco Has a Hard Deal.

Sugar Goes Up, but it Cannot Take Advantage of the Big "Big Bertha" and Son "Willie" Indicted—Other Happenings Near Home.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEVADA CITY, July 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Ed Melarkey shot and killed a young man named Dougherty at North Bloomfield last night during a quarrel over 50 cents which Dougherty, who was traveling with a circus, had placed on the counter to pay for drinks. Melarkey grabbed it and refused to give it up. A dispute arose and Melarkey vowed he would kill Dougherty. Soon after he went to a store and purchased a pistol. About 8 o'clock in the evening Melarkey went to the circus ground and meeting Dougherty, drew the pistol and shot him in the throat. The ball ranged upward and into the brain. He lived only a few minutes. Melarkey was arrested.

SUGAR GOES UP.

A "Trust" Refinery Gets in a Bad Pinch.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The California and American sugar refinery, in harmony with the advance made in New York, yesterday advanced the price of granulated sugar one-fourth of 1 cent per pound, and today an additional half cent, making the present price 8 cents per pound. Representatives of refineries here say that one of the chief causes of the advance is the scarcity of the beet crop in Germany and elsewhere. Another cause, however, as stated by men conversant with the subject, is that there is in New York very little sugar for future delivery.

In connection with this subject is an interesting fact that when the sugar trust was lately formed in the East the trust attempted to set the figure which they would pay for raw sugar. Thereupon the sugar brokers, who act as middle-men between the grower and refiner, quietly told the trust that they would not sell them any raw sugar.

It would seem that the brokers had gotten control of the greater portion of the future beet crop. Not long since, the sugar trust, finding themselves practically without the raw sugar to keep the refineries in operation, made a proposal to the brokers to buy up the surplus. The brokers then set a price, which was a high one, but the refineries are obliged to pay it.

Beside this, there is a local feature of the subject that is interesting at this time. Before the American refinery here joined the sugar trust the plan of both refineries was to be subjected to the state of the market at the time of delivery. For instance, the trust would contract with the American refinery for a certain amount of sugar at 6 cents a pound, this being the market price on that day.

When the sugar was delivered, however, be it in a few days or months, B was called on to pay the market price on the day of delivery, if being to the advantage of the trust.

If the trust had been able to buy sugar at 6 cents a pound, it would be surprising if before the week closes the California refinery, seeing over the thought that its rival is running its works night and day to turn out sugar at 6 cents, when the market price is 8 cents.

The sugar men here say that as a matter of fact there is now little sugar on the Pacific Coast, the extra demand from fruit canneries, etc., having lowered the price, and it would not be surprising if before the week closes the California refinery sugar is in, will advance the price of refined sugar to 9 cents a pound and reap a golden harvest of its own sowing.

Boulanger Resigns His Seat to Avoid Censure—Exciting Scenes.

Other Foreign News—Queen Natalie Arms Her Followers to Resist an Attempt to Take Away Her Son—Hundreds of Miners Perish Miserably.

By Telegraph to the Times.
PARIS, July 12.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the Chamber of Deputies today, Boulanger proposed the dissolution of the chamber. His proposition was rejected. Boulanger thereupon resigned his seat.

Boulanger, in his speech proposing the dissolution, said that such a course was imperative and that the elections ought to be held before the celebration of the centenary of the revolution of 1870. The country demanded the institution of new safeguards to secure the Republic from attacks of its adversaries against which it was powerless. The Chamber of Deputies was falling into ruin and decay and the country was trembling. Monarchists were watching the Republic, expectant of its death agony. The country felt that its safety demanded a revision of the Constitution. He did not doubt that the patriotism of Deputies was on a level with their sense of duty. He would do his duty by demanding the passage of the resolution that the Chamber, being convinced of the necessity for fresh elections, ask President Carnot for a dissolution.

Premier Floquet reproached Gen. Boulanger for his support up on the Right [Applause from the Left]. He said it was not for a man like Boulanger, who was always absent from the Chamber, to judge of its legislative labors or criticize hard-working members. What had Boulanger done?

Boulanger: I made an appeal to the country.

Floquet: The country answered you in the Chambre election. We have never recognized you as one of us. You are a lingered in the anti-chambers of princes. We will celebrate the centenary by again proclaiming the supremacy of the civil power. We represent universal suffrage. We have rendered more service to the Republic than you can do harm. You demand a dissolution. It is in your party that it exists. Your photographs come from Germany, where your interests lie. [Cheers from the Left and uproar among the members of the Right.]

A STORMY SCENE.
Gen. Boulanger: Floquet's speech is only the utterance of a badly educated school usher. He in no way alludes to the general policy of revision. He merely makes personal attacks. I tell him now, as I told him amid the noise, that he impudently lies.

After a scene of excitement the President of the Chamber said that before applying censure he would allow Gen. Boulanger to speak.

Gen. Boulanger asked if censure was to be applied to Floquet or himself.

The President: It was you who first attacked the Chamber. The last word you uttered makes it necessary to apply a severe rule.

Gen. Boulanger protested against a régime which did not respect the liberty of the tribune. He said that in view of the President's decision, he would resign his seat.

The General Floquet left the Chamber, followed by his supporters. The members of the Left still claimed that censure should be applied to Gen. Boulanger.

The President remarked that Boulanger by leaving the Chamber did himself justice.

De la Marselle, member of the Right, reproached the President for showing partiality to Floquet. This led to a renewal of the attack. When order had been restored a vote of censure of Gen. Boulanger was adopted. The Chamber then adjourned till Monday.

TO FIGHT A DUEL.

It is reported that in consequence of the occurrences in the Chamber of Deputies, Boulanger and Floquet will fight a duel. Gouraud and Perin are said to have consented to serve as seconds for Floquet and Count Dillon and M. Leroux for Boulanger.

After the sitting, Floquet sent his seconds to Gen. Boulanger's house with his challenge. Gen. Boulanger was out, but his seconds told them they would find him at midnight in a newspaper office, whether he liked it or not. It is believed that the preliminaries are arranged. Floquet seemed anxious to fight before the affair got to the news-papers.

When Boulanger left the chamber the crowd outside shouted: "A bas Boulanger. Down with the traitor. Duce him," and groaned and hissed Gen. Boulanger vigorously. Only a few faint cheers were raised. Boulanger had to contest successively the departments of Dordogne, Lot, Aveyron, and Nord.

The expected duel between Boulanger and Floquet will take place tomorrow morning and the weapons will be swords. It is now said that Berisse and Laisalle will be Boulanger's seconds.

QUEEN NATALIE.

She Will Use Force to Retain Possession of Her Son.

BERLIN, July 12.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The North German Gazette says: "The Servian Government has applied to the Prussian authorities for assistance in taking the Servian Crown Prince back to Belgrade. Such a request has been acceded to when coming from a private person. In the present instance it is a question not merely of the assertion of parental authority, but of the exercise of the sovereign rights of King Milan toward his son and subject. The Prussian authorities have summoned Queen Natalie to a plenipotentiary. The Queen has refused and threatened to forcibly resist the removal of the Prince. She has armed members of her household for the purpose of offering resistance. It is undesirable that Prussia should see her authority disregarded in her own country or Servian disputation fought out at Wiesbaden. The Government, therefore, desires Queen Natalie to leave Germany, unless she is willing to submit to authority."

LONDON, July 12.—A Vienna dispatch says the Crown Prince of Servia has passed through that city on his way to Belgrade.

SEEKING VINDICATION.

Proposed Commission to Investigate the Charges Against Parnell.

LONDON, July 12.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the Commons this afternoon Smith, Government leader, in answer to Parnell, said that the Government maintained the opinion that the tribunal which Parnell suggested was incompetent to treat on the question that he proposed to raise, but the Government was willing to pass an act providing for the appointment of a committee consisting of judges fully empowered to inquire into the allegations and charges made against Irish members of Parliament by the London Times.

Parnell asked if Smith intended to place on paper the terms of a motion to this effect.

Smith replied that if Parnell was prepared to accept the Government's offer he was ready to put on paper notice of a motion this morning.

for leave to bring in a bill providing for such a committee.

In the House of Lords tonight the Duke of Argyle moved a vote of confidence in the Government for securing to the people of Ireland the full enjoyment of their freedom in law and in arms, and protecting them against unlawful coercion and combinations. He assailed Gladstone for placing the Constitution of the country in the peril to which it had been exposed since 1880, for instigating a revolution which would break up the Empire, and for fermenting the passions of lawless and ignorant men since he joined the Liberal party. Gladstone's defense of the Government was successful in vindicating the law and maintaining the personal rights of citizens as a basis of society. The motion was carried without division.

Parnell, in an interview tonight, referring to the Government's offer to appoint a committee of judges to inquire as to the principles contained in the proposal. He welcomed an independent tribunal of able, learned and wise men. It was impossible for him to say more till he had seen the proposed bill. He objected to Justice Stephen, who, it is said, will be appointed on the committee, to which he is a violent extremist.

The committee to inquire into the Times' charges will probably consist of Lord Branwell, Lord Justice of Appeal; Sir Henry Hawkins and Alfred Wiles, Lord High Justices of the Queen's Bench; Lord Farren Herschell, Lord Chancellor of the Queen's Bench, with Mr. Samuel Whitbread, member of Parliament for Bedford, and Sir John Mowbray, member of Parliament for the University of Oxford.

Frightful Colliery Accident—Hundreds of Miners Killed.

LONDON, July 11.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A dispatch from Cape Town, Africa, says the Deben coal mine, at Kimberley, caught fire yesterday evening. Eight hundred men are ennobled. The work of rescue, which began at once, still continues, but it is believed that 500 persons have perished, including Mr. Lindsay, manager of the company. Many of the victims imprisoned in the mines are white people.

VICTORIA NOT A PRISONER.

LONDON, July 13.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes sensational correspondence from Berlin under date of July 10th, which is, in effect, as follows: Friedrichskron Palace, at Potsdam, where the Dowager Empress Victoria is living, is, in all but name, a prison, and the ex-Empress is virtually under arrest. In any case, she is receiving constant consideration from the men now in power. It is presumed the object is to bring influence to bear upon Her Majesty through her husband's papers.

The St. James Gazette says: "It is semi-officially stated that the report published in the Pall Mail Gazette, to the effect that the Dowager Empress Victoria is virtually under arrest at Potsdam is absolutely false." The editor of the Pall Mail Gazette, although aware of the monstrous nature of the story, nevertheless published it. That paper's correspondent at Berlin is probably as much a fiction as is the story, which is the falsehood and most malicious ever invented."

NOTES.

Rome, July 13.—The Chamber of Deputies today adopted a measure giving electoral rights to every one able to read and write and who pays the minimum taxes.

QUEENSTOWN, July 13.—Chancery Depew, who arrived on the steamer Britannic, said he would make a tour of the Monongahela and the valleys of its tributaries for the last 60 hours are again failing into their natural channels. They leave in their track scenes of desolation and ruin that never had their counterpart in the same localities. From Pittsburgh to the mountain fastnesses of Randolph county many towns have been ravaged, manufactory inundated, boats sunk, houses and lumber floated off, fields with their wheat in shock and growing crops devastated, families driven to the hills for shelter, and in many instances, the accumulations of years of toil and self-denial have been lost in an hour.

The losses entailed by the flood will not, it is ascertained today, be short of $3,000,000, a large proportion of which falls with crushing effect upon the people of the surviving counties of Monongahela, Marion, Taylor, Fayette, Greene, Washington, Fayette, and Randolph in West Virginia.

In Pennsylvania the losses are in the counties of Allegheny, Washington, Westmoreland, Fayette and Green, the heaviest being in Allegheny, Washington and Fayette. The losses fall most heavily upon the owners of coal property, railroad companies and farms.

Nowhere is the damage so great as in the course of water and the area of distribution, the losses of flats, barges and small river craft have been comparatively small, and nearly all boat-owners are congratulating themselves on their good fortune.

THROUGH A TRESTLE.

Terrible Accident on the Virginia Midland Road.

ALEXANDRIA (Va.), July 12.—[By Associated Press.] A terrible accident occurred on the Virginia Midland Railroad early this morning. The through southern train that left here at 11:25 last night went through the trestle between Orange Court-house and Barboursville, a distance of 15 feet, killing five persons outright and wounding 25 others. The trestle was known to be weak, and the railroad company was engaged in filling it in. The train was over most of the trestle when the smoke, engine, and tender and two passenger coaches, the engine went down pilot end foremost, thus communicating fire to the wreck.

Among the killed are C. Cox of Alexandria, of the engineering department of the Piedmont Air Line; R. T. Whittington, postal clerk; E. C. Brightwell, postal clerk. The badly injured include W. D. Parrott, C. J. West and J. L. Walthall, postmen; F. Potter Field, express agent; Z. Jenkins, of Lynchburg and Capt. T. C. Taylor, of Roanoke.

LATER.—General Manager Randolph has received further details of the accident. In addition to the list of killed three more unknown persons were found dead, in clearing away the debris.

Ives Indicted.

CINCINNATI, July 12.—Henry S. Ives of New York was indicted today by the Hamilton-county Grand Jury. Nothing further is known than this fact. What the alleged offense is, the court authorities refuse to say. A. McDonald, petitioner and chief witness, is a lawyer of the firm of Ives & McDonald, who would save his life and spare his family from the grief and shame that now hangs over them. I don't know what I shall do. I have not determined upon my plans. I wish I was at home. Beyond the pleasure of seeing my son, my journey of several thousand miles has been a fruitless one. I don't know whether my husband will visit Missouri after our return.

The lady broke down in her deep grief and sorrow, and the disappointment of both her and her daughter was very great.

Gen. Sheridan Improving.

NORFOLK, July 12.—The only change in Gen. Sheridan's condition during the past 24 hours has been in the condition of his nervous system. He slept well last night, and has been very tranquil all day, more tranquil than at any previous time since his arrival here. It is now 35 days since he has had an attack of heart failure.

The Boycott Raised.

KANSAS CITY, July 12.—The strike situation among the Burlington switchmen shows little change, except that the boycott on "Q" freight was raised at noon. All is quiet around the yards, and all switching is going on regularly.

Proposed Commission to Investigate the Charges Against Parnell.

LONDON, July 12.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the Commons this afternoon Smith, Government leader, in answer to Parnell, said that the Government maintained the opinion that the tribunal which Parnell suggested was incompetent to treat on the question that he proposed to raise, but the Government was willing to pass an act providing for the appointment of a committee consisting of judges fully empowered to inquire into the allegations and charges made against Irish members of Parliament by the London Times.

Parnell asked if Smith intended to place on paper the terms of a motion to this effect.

Smith replied that if Parnell was prepared to accept the Government's offer he was ready to put on paper notice of a motion this morning.

By Telegram to the Times.

MEMPHIS, July 12.—[By the Associated Press.] There is great excitement prevailing at Marion, the county seat of Crittenden county, Ark. The county has been under negro rule since 1870, and nearly every officer of the county is colored. Several days ago warnings were sent through the mails to several prominent citizens to leave the county. These notices were sent, it is thought, at the instigation of D. W. Lewis and David Ferguson, Judge and Clerk of the County Court, both of whom are colored, and both under indictment for drunkenness and neglect of duty. This morning 100 armed white men proceeded to clear the town of all the ring leaders. Lewis fled at night. Ferguson remained to defend himself till time to set up and arrange his books. The colored Assessors, together with several colored deputy clerks, were escorted to a train, given tickets and warned not to return. The whites stood guard all last night, fearing an attack, as negroes in Crittenden county outnumber the whites seven to one.

MILLIONS LOST.

Estimates of Damages by the Eastern Floods.

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Today the waters that have been sweeping the valley of the Monongahela and the valleys of its tributaries for the last 60 hours are again failing into their natural channels. They leave in their track scenes of desolation and ruin that never had their counterpart in the same localities. From Pittsburgh to the mountain fastnesses of Randolph county many towns have been ravaged, manufactory inundated, boats sunk, houses and lumber floated off, fields with their wheat in shock and growing crops devastated, families driven to the hills for shelter, and in many instances, the accumulations of years of toil and self-denial have been lost in an hour.

W., F. & CO. ROBBED.

A TREASURE-BOX CAPTURED AT THE DEPOT.

They Got Away with $1200 Under the Very Eyes of the Messenger-Able Detectives Capture Three of the Thieves—In Jail.

A daring robbery was perpetrated on the night, one of the treasure boxes, while loaded on a truck at the Southern Pacific depot waiting for the 9:30 train for San Francisco, being unlocked, $1200 in gold and silver coin taken, and the box relocked. It is not known just when the robbery took place, but it must have been after the box was placed on the truck, as the first information that anything was wrong was noticed when the box was lifted up to be loaded into the car, its light weight attracting attention. An investigation was at once had, which resulted in the discovery that the contents of the box, $1000 in silver and $200 in gold coin, in two packages, were missing. Word was first sent to the police station for Deputy Sheriff Tommy Botello, and a messenger was dispatched for that officer. Later

A OTHER MESSENGER came in and inquired for Metzler and Harris, and these gentlemen were sent for. This messenger did not get to the station until between 2 and 3 o'clock, and soon as they were satisfied the police reported for duty and went to work on the case. Detective Len Harris of the Southern Pacific also took a hand in the matter, and shortly after daylight a couple of men who formerly worked for the express company were spotted about the depot, and were taken into custody and held up to the County Jail. John E. Le Bernard and Joe Weisenberger, and were confined in separate cells, strict orders being given by the officers not to allow any reporters to communicate with them. In the meantime Metzler had located another suspicious-looking character hanging about the depot and engaged in conversation. This fellow pretended to be a detective and after giving Metzler a few points about how to get on the police force, and after putting

His FOOT IN THE TRAP as far as the detective wanted him to, he called Officer Rufo and had him taken to the City Prison, where he gave the name of Thomas and was booked, "Held for the Chief." After getting the three men behind the bars, the detectives procured a carriage and started out in search of evidence against them. By this time the reporters had found out that something was amiss, and also started to find out what it all meant. Metzler and Bello first went to a house of ill fame, and then to a saloon on Main street, and went through several trucks, but found nothing. They afterward went to a house on Temple street, where they also made a search, but still were unsuccessful. Late last evening, however, Metzler captured Weisenberger's valise at the Santa Fe depot, and brought it to the station. In the valise was found a handbag, made of leather, and, decayed by exposure to be the best out that they had ever seen, and a large bunch of keys, among which were SEVERAL SKELETON KEYS, a key to railroad coaches and one or two keys to the express treasure boxes. All of these articles were deposited as evidence, and the express station money continued, up to a late hour last night no clue had been discovered. The officers yesterday refused absolutely to give any information to the reporters, saying that they would tell everything when they had finished the job. During the afternoon the matter leaked out, and investigation developed the above facts, and the identity of the men arrested as ex-soldiers, and there is no doubt but what they are the men who turned the trick. Considering the very slight clue on which they had to work, Detectives Enslin and Len Harris and Metzler deserve credit for the manner in which they worked the case.

In the complaint just filed serious allegations are made against the three latter-named defendants, who occupy the respective positions of president, treasurer and secretary of the Niedt Company.

It is alleged that the capital stock is divided into 7500 shares, of which Mr. Niedt holds 1889 and Mr. Garrett 500. On the 1st of Oct. 1887, at a board meeting, an assessment of $1 per share was levied upon the capital stock, which assessment was delinquent on the 10th of November. At that time Mr. Niedt was the owner of 2489 shares of stock, and he paid the assessment exacted for without demur, but, although long delinquent, it is alleged that defendants have failed to pay any part or payment whatever. Furthermore, it is alleged that J. M. Moorehead, as president of the company, has at various times prior to the 1st of July, 1888, drawn from the treasury of the corporation sums of money aggregating $10,000, more or less, without proper authority of the stockholders, and which sum he has not applied or used in the business. In the month of July he also received from the California Central Railroad Company the sum of $500 due the company, but up to date he has failed to account for the same to the Board of Directors. On the 5th of June he got the secretary to him on the books with the sum of $474 for his personal use, which was procured for the benefit of the corporation. Sum of money totaling $240 have been withdrawn as salaries by the defendants in a manner unauthorized by the company's by-laws.

Concluding, the plaintiffs allege that the company's quality of fraud and mismanagement and collusion with each other to enrich themselves at the expense of the majority of shareholders, and to compel plaintiffs to sacrifice their shares; that they have drawn from the funds of the corporation large sums of money to which they were not entitled, have taken credit upon the books for divers amounts of money to which they were not entitled, and have received large sums of money which they have not turned into the treasury of the corporation or entered upon the books. The property and assets of the company have been depreciated and washed to the detriment of the plaintiffs. The court is asked to so order that account may be taken of all dealings and transactions of the corporation from the 1st of June, 1887, and for such further relief as may be necessary. The defendants have not yet been heard from, and should not be judged until they have had their say in the matter.

ALLEN VS. AGUIRRE.

A Restaurant Case in the Township Court.

The case of Allen against Aguirre came up for trial in Department No. 3 of the Superior Court yesterday before a jury. It appeared that on the 15th of June the restaurant at No. 248 South Spring street, owned by Mrs. Carrie Brown, was attacked by the Township Constable for $125. The plaintiff Allen afterward bought the restaurant and its contents at auction, paying therefor $1800, in the form of two notes, and which are dated a short time before the date of attachment. The Constable refused to deliver up the premises until his claim was settled, claiming that the sale was not made in good faith, but was entered into for the purpose of defrauding the creditors. Allen consequently sued for possession of the premises and costs of the suit.

EAST SIDERS.

East Los Angeles to Have Her Own Gas.

The East Side is rejoicing in a gas plant of its own, separate and distinct from this side of the river. Some New York men came before the Board of Trade two months ago and broached the scheme of establishing a plant to manufacture gas by the Avery process. The Board of Trade regarded the proposition very favorably, and offered the company considerable inducement to come among other things using their influence to obtain a franchise.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office, Nos. 6 Court street, for David E. Freeman, M. T. Elkinwood, Peter Thomson, Mrs. L. M. Holbrook, Mrs. Frank Quinby and Wee Sins.

All members of the Illinois Association, with their families and friends, are invited to participate in the reception this evening to the visiting teachers from Illinois, at the Normal School building. The exercises will open at 3 P.M.

The ladies of the Central Baptist Church will have musical entertainment at the new residence of Mrs. W. S. Scarborough this evening, 119 North Hope street, near Temple. All members and friends of the church are cordially invited.

The Avery process is a recent patent to manufacture gas from crude petroleum, and the gas is considered of a superior burning quality, and is not so fatal to persons breathing it as the ordinary kinds. The Avery process is a simple one of the acquisition to their home enterprises, and point to it as one thing gained by the work of the Board of Trade.

LANGUAGE FAILS TO DESCRIBE IT.

Enthusiastic Visitors Present in the Hotel del Coronado to Be the Most Fascinating Place on Earth.

Day after day and week after week have we been told, and have listened to and watched with some degree of wonder the delight apparent in their faces and the pleasure expressed by guests who had returned from the magnificent Hotel del Coronado. Yet we must own to having had and entertained some lingering doubt and silent misgivings that all this grandeur, luxury and beauty, with the many other tales told about this wonderful hotel were exaggerations, and perhaps that the return trip and the distance lent enchantment to the view. After visiting it, however, we have no longer any hesitation, but readily fall into line and proclaim the Hotel del Coronado to be "the pride of Southern California, and that it stands the unequalled Queen of all ocean seaside resorts."

There is no doubt that this most charming place is a modern fairyland, which readily fascinates all who see it.

There is a species of magic about it that fills every visitor with an indescribable pleasure, and which leaves an impression for long afterward of delightful and refined enjoyment mingled with a peaceful tranquility and happiness such as can be felt at but few spots on earth.

This grand hotel, with its magnificent appointments and incomparable surroundings, can safely challenge the world for combined attractions — external, internal and social. Nature has been most bountiful, too, in there providing a climate having the most genial atmosphere.

Amid such gorgeous surroundings, visitors feel that they are indeed in a veritable terrestrial paradise while staying at the Hotel del Coronado and that it stands the unequalled Queen of all ocean seashore resorts."
